Cat burgler strikes four homes

Four homes in Wilmington were burglarized on the morning of June 28 between the hours of 3 and 6 a.m. The homes located in two different neighborhoods, one near the police station and the other on Main Street near Silver Lake.

The thief or thieves entered the homes while the residents were sleeping by pushing in a screen and climbing through the open window. Cash was taken in at least one of the homes.

One witness awoke when the thief was in the bedroom. The thief calmly turned his head and walked out of the house. He did not panic and run. He just turned his head so his face was not visible and walked out.

This prompts police to believe that he is professional. An amateur would most likely have bolted or perhaps hurt the homeowner.

Once in the street the thief got into a full size blue car and backed away from the house and around the corner. Then down an adjoining street and out of the neighborhood. Again keeping any identifying details (the license plate) obscured.

The thief was described as being a black male about 5 foot 10 inches tall. No other description was available. There may or may not have been an accomplice in the car.

Another witness came forth later to say the thief was walking around the house, calmly, casually. She told her mother but it was dismissed until later evidence was discovered. Then police were notified.

Police have little other to go on. The thief seemed to know his way around the neighborhoods. He may have cased them earlier, or may be someone local. His selection of homes seems to be random. There is no common denominator.

Local band to perform on the common July 12

The local band will be playing a benefit show on Wilmington Common Wed., July 12 at 7 p.m. The band will donate half of its proceeds to Wilmington Community Television (WCTV). The concert is free to the public and all are invited to attend. Star Collector will be celebrating the release of their new 10 song release "Rock of Ages," which will be released internationally.

Star Collector is becoming very well known for their style of well written, pop/rock songs. The band is fronted by the very talented lead vocalist Chris Hawk, along with Wilmington resident Bruce Bennett on guitar, Clint Lurvey on guitar and Eric Yanaway on bass/keyboards. The band's harmonies compliment each song wonderfully bringing back that Beatlesque Pop Culture sound reminding people that the world can be a nice place to live if they want it to be.

Information on Star Collector can be obtained by calling Krystal Rose Music at 508-658-0990.

Arthur Hiitt holds down the family encampment on the common. Arthur's daughter, Chris Merry lives on Veranda Ave. They spent the entire afternoon and evening on the common. Others staked their claim as early as the concert

Sunday evening. After the concert it was observed that blankets and chairs were left overnight. By three o'clock there wasn't a square inch to be had.

Wilmington - a name of many towns

by Capt. Larz Neilson
In September 1730, at the time that Wilmington, Massachusetts was named, it received the title Wilmington. The Governor of Massachusetts was Jonathan Belcher. Born in Cambridge, educated at Harvard, Belcher had spent six years engaged in mercantile experience in Europe, after which he returned home.

Belcher had been appointed Governor of Massachusetts, following three others who had held that post, and who had been quickly removed from office by Britain's king, George II.

Belcher wanted to hold on to his job. In September, when the first town came up for naming Belcher could not think of a more useful man than Spencer Compton, the Earl of Wilmington, a crony of King George II.

Compton was the Speaker of the House of Commons in the British Parliament. He was 'A heavy plodding fellow, with great application but not without talents. His only pleasures are money and eating. His only knowledge are forms and precedents,' was one description of Compton.

The most formal, solemn man in the world' was another description,

'but a great lover of private debauchery.'

The Oxford Dictionary summed him up as a 'Nonety.'

A story, written by a lady named Alice Burke, appeared in the Boston Herald many years ago and told of some of the details on Compton.

He had served as the personal treasurer to George II, while that man was the Prince of Wales. The Earl's name was, to Compton, a consolation prize. Parliament had refused to accept him as the Prime Minister in 1728, after George II became King.

The Massachusetts town was not the only Colonial place of which it had been found it expedient to name a town after the Earl of Wilmington. In short order Delaware and North Carolina had towns so named.

For those three Colonial towns it was no great shakes to be named after a libertine like Spencer Compton.

They are able to search after the real origin of their name.

Wilmington Priority goes back to the 11th Century. It originally belonged to the French Benedictines, the mother house of which was in Normandy. A half brother of William the Conqueror, a man who had accompanied William to England was the person to whom it had been given.

Wilmington's first town meeting was called on the 20th of October 1730. It was held in the small school house which was at the westerly corner of Butters Row and Main Street. Sheriff Samuel Dummer, Esquire, of Middlesex County had orders from the Governor to preside over that meeting.

The custom of having the town vote on who was to preside was not yet a rule.

The sheriff was a resident of Wilmington and a brother of the Dummer who was Governor of Massachusetts about 1720. He had a home which was in the Land of Nod, northerly of the present Salem Street.

Samuel Dummer's home was northeasterly of the present Harnden Tavern on Lot One and on a tract of land which was 219.63 acres. Proof of the site has been recently established by former Wilmington resident and school committee member Tony Accardi, now assistant register of deeds in Lowell.

The two Dummer brothers had been born in Newbury, near where the Merrimack River flows to the sea. Both were united in support of the Royal government. Forty odd years later both would have been labeled Tories.

Samuel Dummer, when his brother was appointed Governor of Massachusetts, had been a resident of the Island of Jamaica, a landed man with a plantation. He immediately sold his property and returned to Massachusetts. He took with him half a dozen black slaves. Shortly after his arrival his brother appointed him sheriff of Middlesex County.

In that first town meeting of Wilmington the first words have been lost from the record. The second page says "the word of God among us, and it passed in the affirmative."

Possibly that town meeting could have solved many difficulties, but such was not the case. It was about a year later before the townspeople could agree on a site for a meeting house and church.

Samuel Dummer died in Wilmington February 6, 1738, and was buried in the "old" cemetery.

His death did nothing to solve the problem of whether there was to be self rule, or rule by the King.

It took 45 more years to solve that.

England's Wilmington was in Devon (western England), but it had a famous fellow, as subtle as the Earl was blatant, as fascinating as the Earl was dull, and as enduring as the Earl was transient.

That fellow was a 240 feet tall carved statue. His huge unclad figure had stood etched in the chalk white soil beneath the grassy downs, going back about 300 years. Why he is there is among Britain's unsolved mysteries. It is on a par, almost, with the old problem about Who Built Stonehenge?

Thousands of persons have visited the Long Man every year to inspect him. Artists, archaeologists, scholars, scientists and just curious tourists puff up the steep hill to trace his tremendous outline, and to guess at his story.

If given a choice, what would the residents of Wilmington, Massachusetts do, for a historical choice of names?

Would they take Governor Belcher's choice, Compton, or that of the half brother of William the Conqueror?

Inspector Mike Celata to be honored

Wilmington Detective Mike Celata is to receive the Legion of Merit from the Italian / American Police Association for work he did on the Ramon Torres case. His work led to the arrest of Torres after a series of at least 8 evening breaks in Wilmington during 1992 and 1993. Torres was dubbed "The Phantom" by area newspapers as breaks were reported all over the North Shore. Torres was arrested on August 1993.

Celata was able to match fingerprints found at the scene to a very old set of prints taken back in the 70's, before there was any computerization of prints.

Even today with a partial print it is very difficult to match sets due to the missing data. The computer can only match the numbers that it is fed. Celata made the match through hours of studying possible suspects' old records and prints.

The award from the Italian / American Police Association will be presented on October 27 at the Annunciation Melkit Cathedral Hall VFW Parkway in Roslindale. The association is a 27 year old national organization headed by Pres. M. Michael Giacompo.

Stone's in the Garden

A Barron among gardeners

by Jackie Leszczak-Stone
I first met Wes Barron on our town common, at a Garden Club plant sale. We compared ideas, hints and promised to visit each other's gardens. Wes soon visited mine, but it took me over a year to build up enough courage to compare my accomplishments to his.

Wes has been gardening for about one and a half of my lifetime, and for a mere 25 years in the same Tewksbury location. His garden occupies about three quarters of a sunny acre, organized into edged or raised beds with a large plot dedicated as a fruit orchard. He shares his interest with his son, Bob Barron, a former naval officer and Annapolis graduate. Wes graduated from Bentley in the early 30s and has worked in business and accounting all his professional life. Together these avid gardeners lend their substantial organizational skills to their passion for cultivation.

The tour began beside a Mock Orange shrub (Philadelphus) whose fading early summer blossoms were still incredibly fragrant. Early daylilies were just coming into bloom in a perennial bed, perfectly edged in ground level concrete pavers to simplify mowing. Other perennials, including huge balloon flower and rose mallow plants, will continue the color display throughout the summer.

The vegetable garden is organized into neat beds with weed free paths between them. Three beds, now showing ferny foliage, produce a long season of spring asparagus. The Barrons are harvesting the last of their spring pea crop but a woodchuck has also enjoyed spring veggies "a la Barron." Summer vegetables include cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, bush beans, Vidalia onions (Wes' favorite), red potatoes, rutabaga, peppers, tomatoes and Swiss chard. Wes prefers Swiss chard over lettuce because you can continually harvest the outer leaves all summer, as new leaves are produced.

The orchard is Bob's domain. A 40 foot long trellis is dedicated to both green and red seedless grapes. A strawberry bed, measuring about 20 ft. square produces a large crop for freezing. The large raspberry bed contained two varieties. Bob recommends Purple Royalty as a single crop variety and Heritage, which produces a fall crop and an early spring crop if you nip some buds the previous fall.

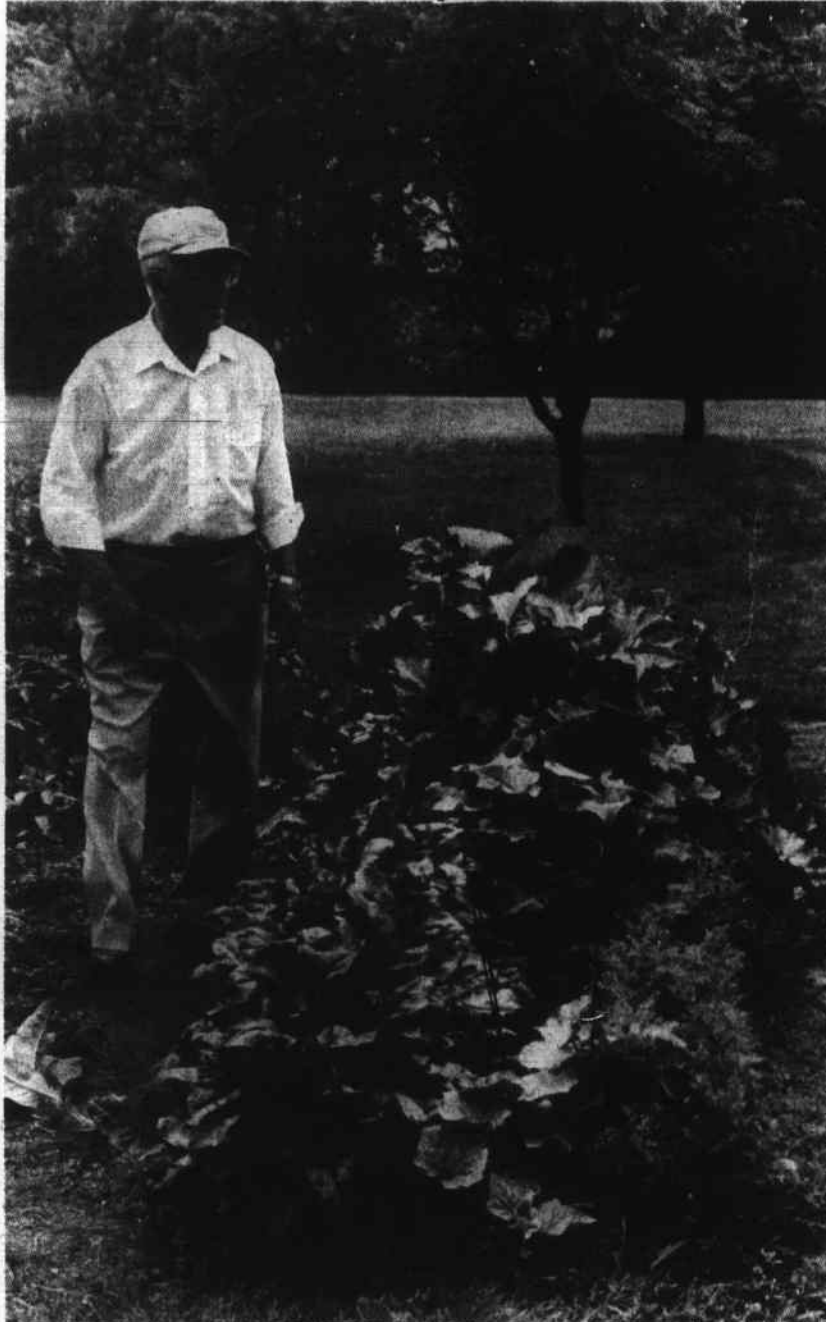

More than 40 (perfectly pruned) fruit trees occupy the remaining garden area. Thirty apple trees, ranging from Granny Smith to Rome, make up the largest planting. The orchard also includes five peaches, two cherries, and six pears including a newly planted (and reportedly delicious) Asian Pear. Yellow coffee can lids dangle from trees that may require special care. The lids list the care requirements in crayon and are a clear and bright reminder to this organized arborist.

Like all good gardeners, the Barrons' approach to gardening draws on life expertise. Their approach is organized, well planned and documented. Bob's approach is precise and military with neat well weeded rows, detailed reminders for plant care and an intricate (and enviable) custom irrigation system that provides water to each individual tree or garden bed. Every plant is clearly labeled as to variety, source and date planted. He relies on regular checks to control insects and uses a minimum of chemicals, reluctantly applying a single annual application of captan and imidan on the fruit trees.

Wes applies his record keeping skills to garden care. He has kept an annual garden ledger since the early 70s. The diary includes data on varieties of plants, when planted, when harvested, comments on yields and an inventory of all plant catalogs received and items purchased. He maintains a daily temperature and weather record and accounts for rainfall and water usage.

Wes' annual records are the most technically complete garden journal I have ever seen. This year his records show that rainfall is already about eight inches below normal. In winter his journal will serve as a planning tool for next year's gardening season. My own vague notes pale in light of Wes' journal, so as I water my garden I vow to keep better records and learn from the "Barrons of Gardening."

Wes Barron surveys his front yard garden, with the fruit trees in the background.

LEARNING FROM YOUR '94 TAX RETURN

Smart move: look over your 1994 tax return now, and determine what you could do differently - better to save taxes on your 1995 income.

*Do you have a retirement fund, IRA, SEP, or Keogh? Did you put as much into it as you could? Dollar for dollar, contributions lower your adjusted gross income, reducing deduction and exemption phaseouts; taxable income may decrease by more than the payment.

*Did you write off investment losses against gains? Start looking at your holdings now, with an eye to balancing investment results to minimize taxes - but don't let taxes control your decisions.

*Charitable contributions? If you can't afford to give cash, note donations of appreciated securities, even used furniture and clothing. Advantage: when you give appreciated property, you get deductions for full value and never have to pay tax on the gain. Get receipts.

*State and local taxes? Medical expenses? Keep records, keep records.

*To limit self-employment tax, bulk up expenses deductible from business income with equipment and business oriented courses.

Tax planning for next year starts now, with the knowledgeable accountants at

Our Flag...

The National Emblem of our country, our heritage and our place in the world. We owe reverence and respect to our flag. It represents the highest ideals of individual liberty, justice and equal opportunity for all.

General display

It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flag staffs in the open. However, when a patriotic effect is desired, the flag may be displayed 24 hours a day if properly illuminated during the hours of darkness. The flag should never touch anything beneath it, such as the ground, the floor, water or merchandise.

No other flag or pennant should be placed over or, if on the same level, to the right of the flag of the United States of America, except during church services conducted by naval chaplains at sea... for personnel of the Navy... when the church pennant may be flown above the flag.

The flag should never be used as a covering for a ceiling.

The flag should never be placed upon it, nor on any part of it, nor attached to it any mark, insignia, letter, word, figure, design, picture, or drawing of any nature.

The flag should never be used as a receptacle from receiving, holding, carrying, or delivering anything.

National Anthem

All present except those in uniform should stand at attention facing the flag with the right hand over the heart. Men not in uniform should remove their headdress with their right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Persons in uniform should render the military salute at the first note of the anthem and retain this position until the last note.

Pledge of Allegiance

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag should be rendered by standing at attention facing the flag with the right hand over the heart. When not in uniform men should remove their headdress with their right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Persons in uniform should remain silent, face the flag, and render the military salute.

Wearing apparel, drapery

The flag should never be used as wearing apparel, bedding, or drapery. It should never be festooned, drawn back, nor up, in folds, but always allowed to fall free. Bunting of blue, white, and red, always arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle, and the red below, should be used for covering a speaker's desk, draping the front of a platform, and for decoration in general.

No part of the flag should ever be used as a costume or athletic uniform. However, a flag patch may be affixed to the uniform of military personnel, firemen, policemen, and members of patriotic organizations. The flag represents a living country and is itself considered a living thing. Therefore, the lapel flag pin being a replica, should be worn on the left lapel near the heart.

The rules and customs presented herein are in accordance with the July 7, 1976 amendments to the Flag Code (Public Law 94-344, 94th Congress, S.J. Res. 49)

Letters to the editor

Respect our flag

Dear Larz:

Greetings and happy "Fourth of July" week. I would like to thank you for printing my letter of April 24 regarding the proper etiquette for honoring the American flag. I have been anxiously watching for publication of a list of general guidelines, however I may have missed it. In case there was difficulty finding information on those guidelines, I've enclosed a copy of those that came with my flag. I hope they are useful.

Thank you once again, and on a side note, I always enjoy the articles on Wilmington's history and look forward to them.

Sincerely and in freedom,
Robert Ethier

Thanks

Dear Larz:

I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of my family to thank the Wilmington Police Department for all their help with our recent crisis. I would especially like to thank Lt. Spencer, Sgt. Gable, Officers Waterhouse and Harris.

These fine men went out of their way to help us with their kindness, support and understanding. It really makes us feel very lucky to live in a community that has such a great police force.

Thank you,
The Sullivan Family

Mosquito spraying

Dear Larz:

The Central Mass. Mosquito Control Project has been treating areas throughout your community where mosquito larvae are found. This larviciding of breeding sites will continue throughout the summer months, as will our water management programs.

The ultra low volume spray operations for adult mosquitoes will be continuing in residential and recreational areas. Spraying will be done by truck mounted or hand held equipment and will be conducted in areas where we find high mosquito populations.

Listed below are the dates scheduled for spraying during the month of July: July 6, 13, 20, 27.

Additional dates may be added if the mosquito populations warrant or if inclement weather occurs on a scheduled date.

Anyone who wishes to have their property excluded from spraying should notify the city/town clerk and the C.M.M.C.P.

The goal is to reduce the need for adult mosquito spraying. We continue to place increased emphasis on larviciding, water management and public education.

Please feel free to contact our office if we may be of assistance to you.

Sincerely,
David W. Scott

Among the vicarious pleasures of being a newspaper publisher is that of sometimes discovering old facts, by the reading of one's own newspaper. Such an incident occurred June 28 when the Town Crier reported that Miriam Melzar Sullivan had celebrated her 100th birthday.

Miriam was a member of a Lake Street, Wilmington family. Others of that family, in years gone by have acquainted this writer with the news that the Melzar family had to walk two and a quarter miles to school every day, and of course the same distance home. The late Harold Melzar, and the late Larry Melzar so informed this writer, many years ago.

This writer has a copy of the 1903 Wilmington School Department Report. The Wilmington School Department did not include its report with the Town Report until about 1906 or 07.

And every year it published, in its report, the names of school pupils who had not been tardy or absent. There was also a list of only one or two absences. The names of two female cousins of this writer are to be found there, but they lived at that time only half a mile from the South School.

Miriam, it seems was a good long distance walker when she was about seven years old. Two and a quarter miles every morning and two and a quarter miles every evening, only missing one day!

This dancing tot was having just too much fun to interrupt him to ask his name, the picture is too good to leave out. We hope his mom and dad see this.

Officer Dave Axelrod took his turn on the wheels on Sunday evening. Wilmington now has two bicycles which will be patrolling around events like the Fun on the Fourth. Note the clean shiny helmet. The Wilmington Police are promoting the use of helmets for all bicycle riders.

Celebrating the 4th

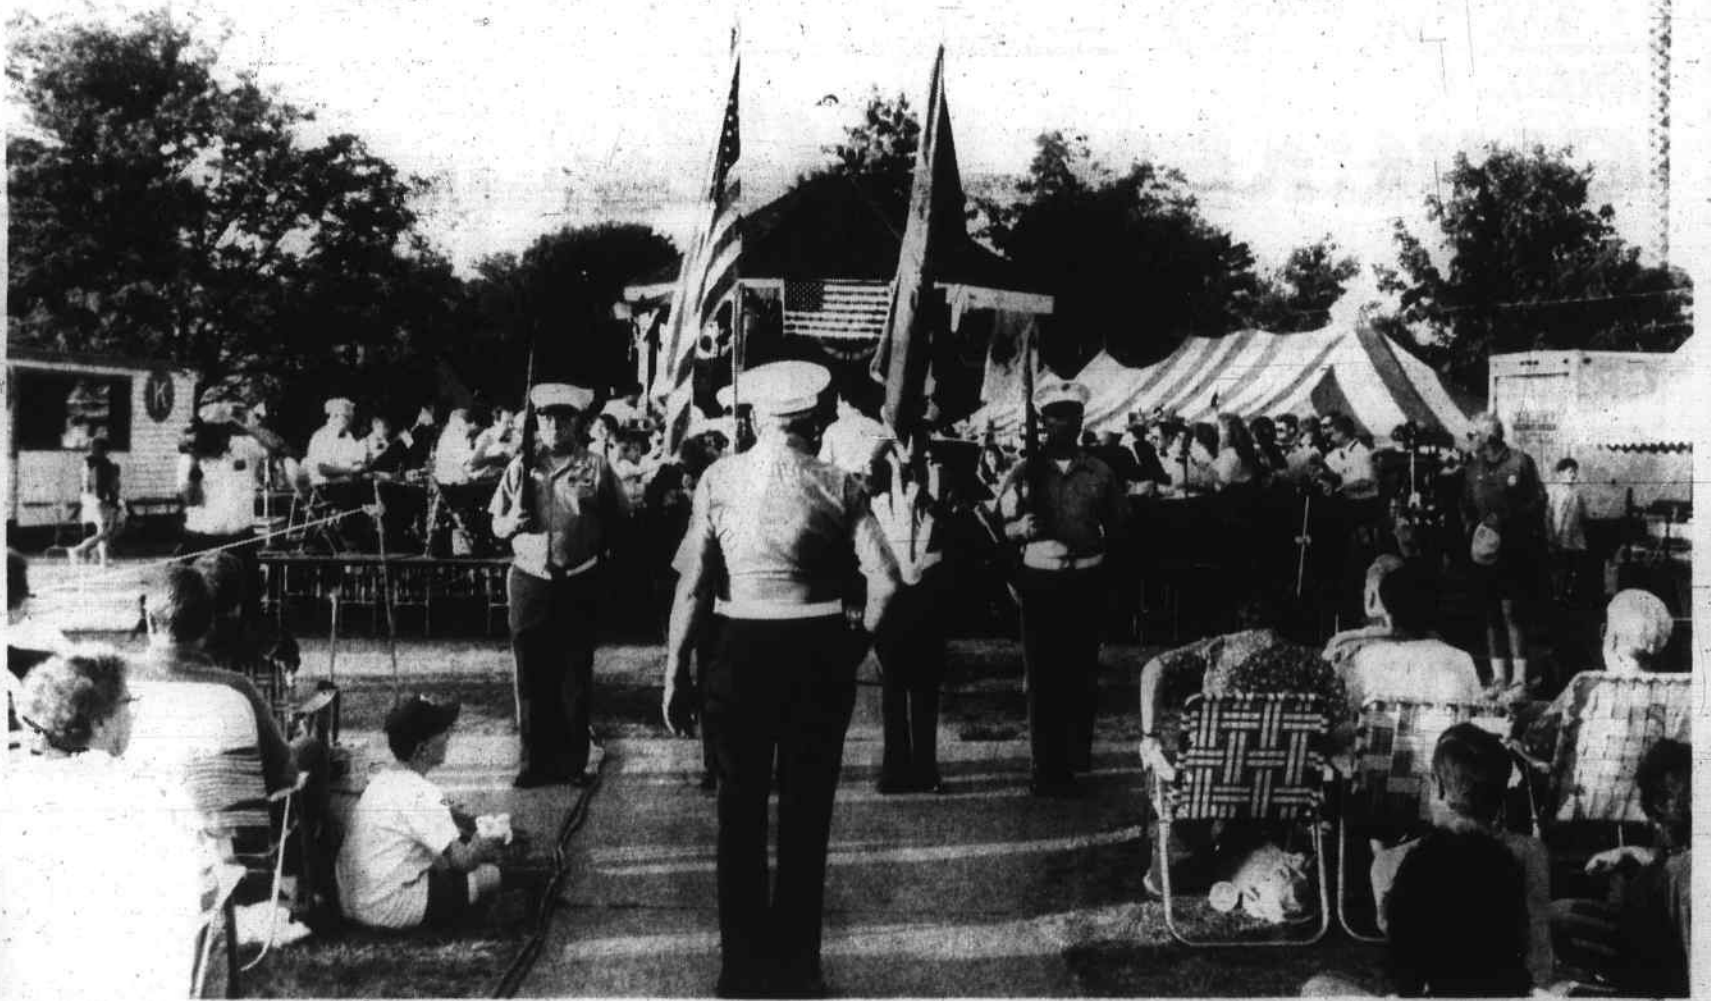

Chris Euloth and Cathy King were incarcerated on the Fourth under the power of a Lions Club Keystone Kops warrant to preserve the peace. The warrant was sworn out by Bob King, boyfriend of Chris and brother-in-law of Cathy.

No sooner were they sprung than they bought a warrant ($1) for his arrest for failing to propose to Chris. After his arrest "Judge" Mike Burns imposed the sentence of marriage, to be carried out within thirty days.

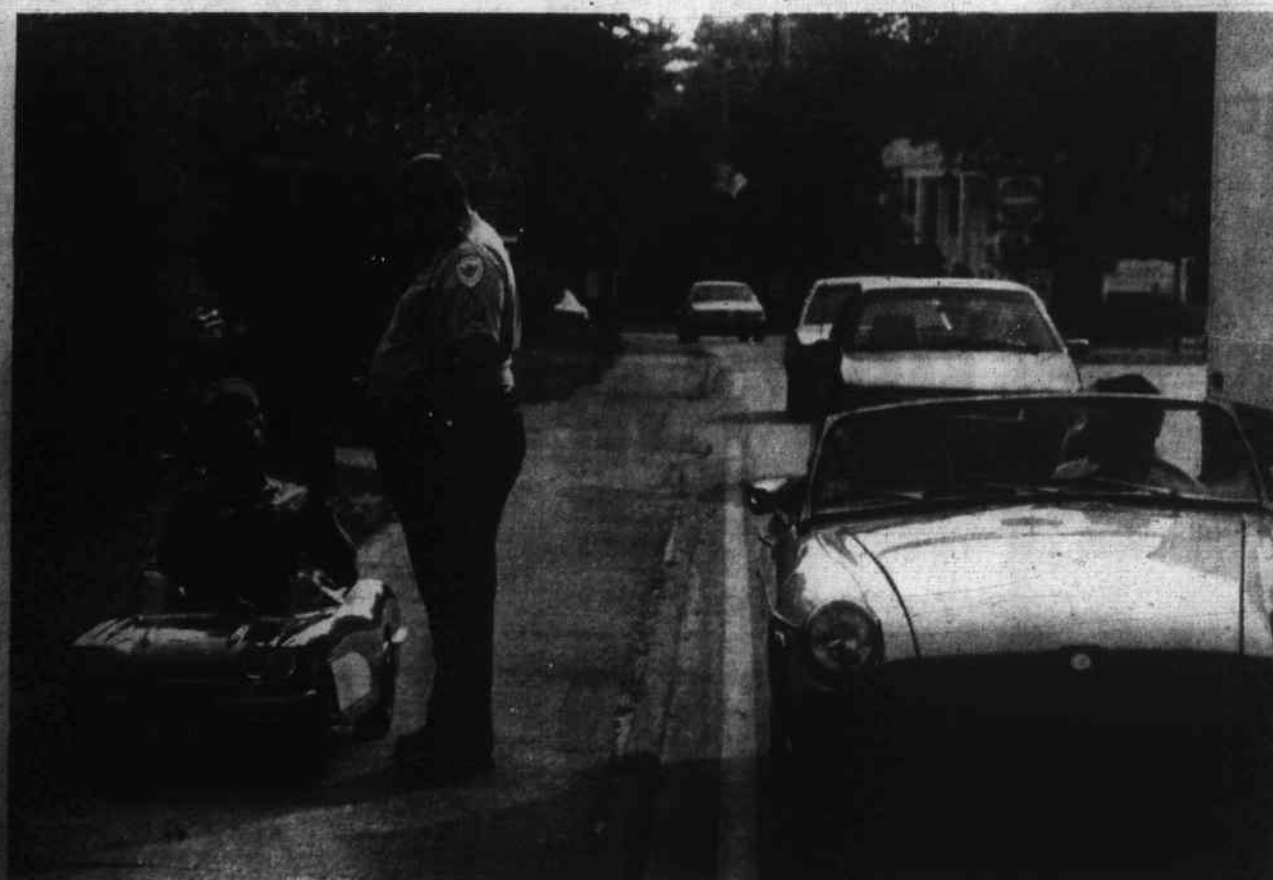

Chris Clement admires the tatoo applied on her ankle. The Dizzy Devil is supposed to wash off.

Wilmington's Fourth of July celebrations have expanded to the point of being known all over New England. People come from everywhere. The Middlesex Band performed patriotic tunes all evening. The Marine Corps League and a squad of the Wilmington Minutemen marched in. The band played a tribute to every branch of the armed services and then the Star Spangled Banner. It was magnificent!

Wilmington style

Tom Pazyra is noted for his zanyness. A local car collector has a number of Corvettes, including this mini one. After talking Tom into driving it around on the Fourth it was hard to talk him out of it. Above Tom gets a stern lecture from Billerica's Officer Trefrey.

Don Hill showed up just as Tom was driving out, yes OUT of the front door of the Fourth of July Headquarters. A race was arranged. Tom sped off down the sidewalk with Don in hot pursuit.

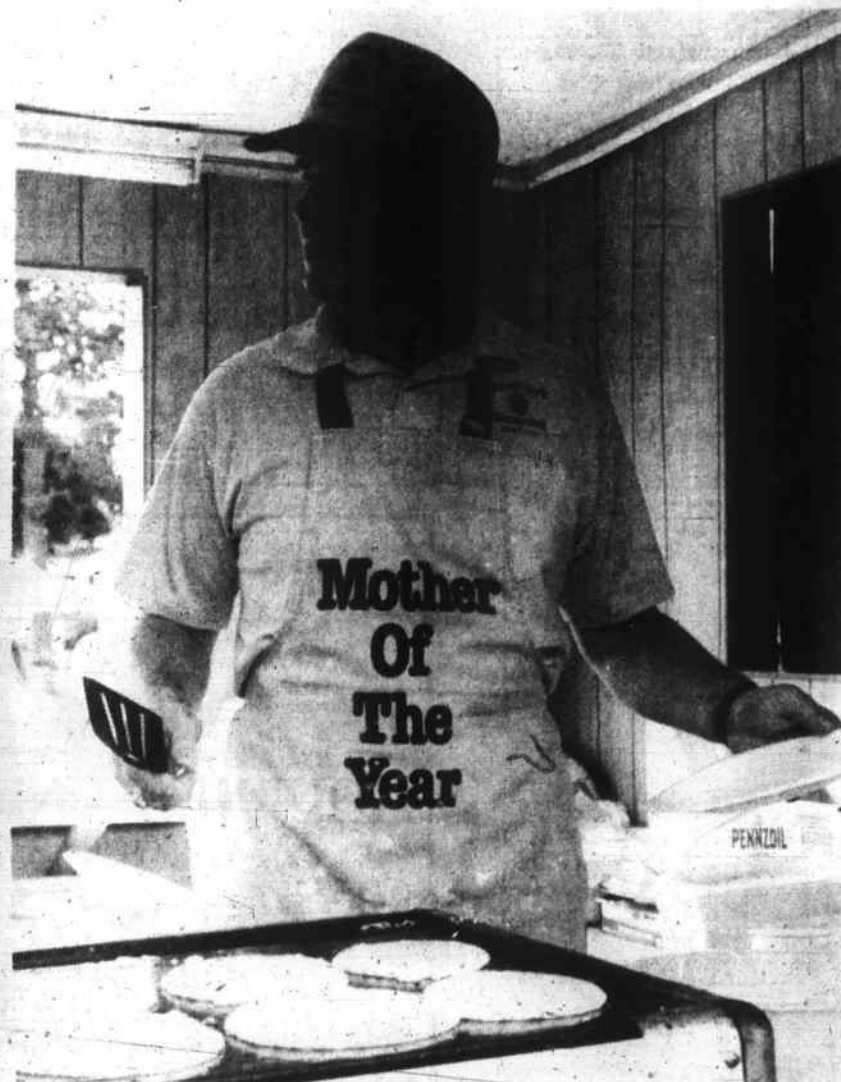

ReMax Hearthstone was going to give rides to forty or fifty brave souls on Saturday afternoon, but gusty winds kept the balloon from launching. Plans were to go up and down on a line secured to Jim Stewart's car, but as volunteers were holding the lines winds nearly blew the balloon to the ground. At that point it was decided to give up. In the foreground, members of the Rotary Club cook the last of the chickens for their dinner.

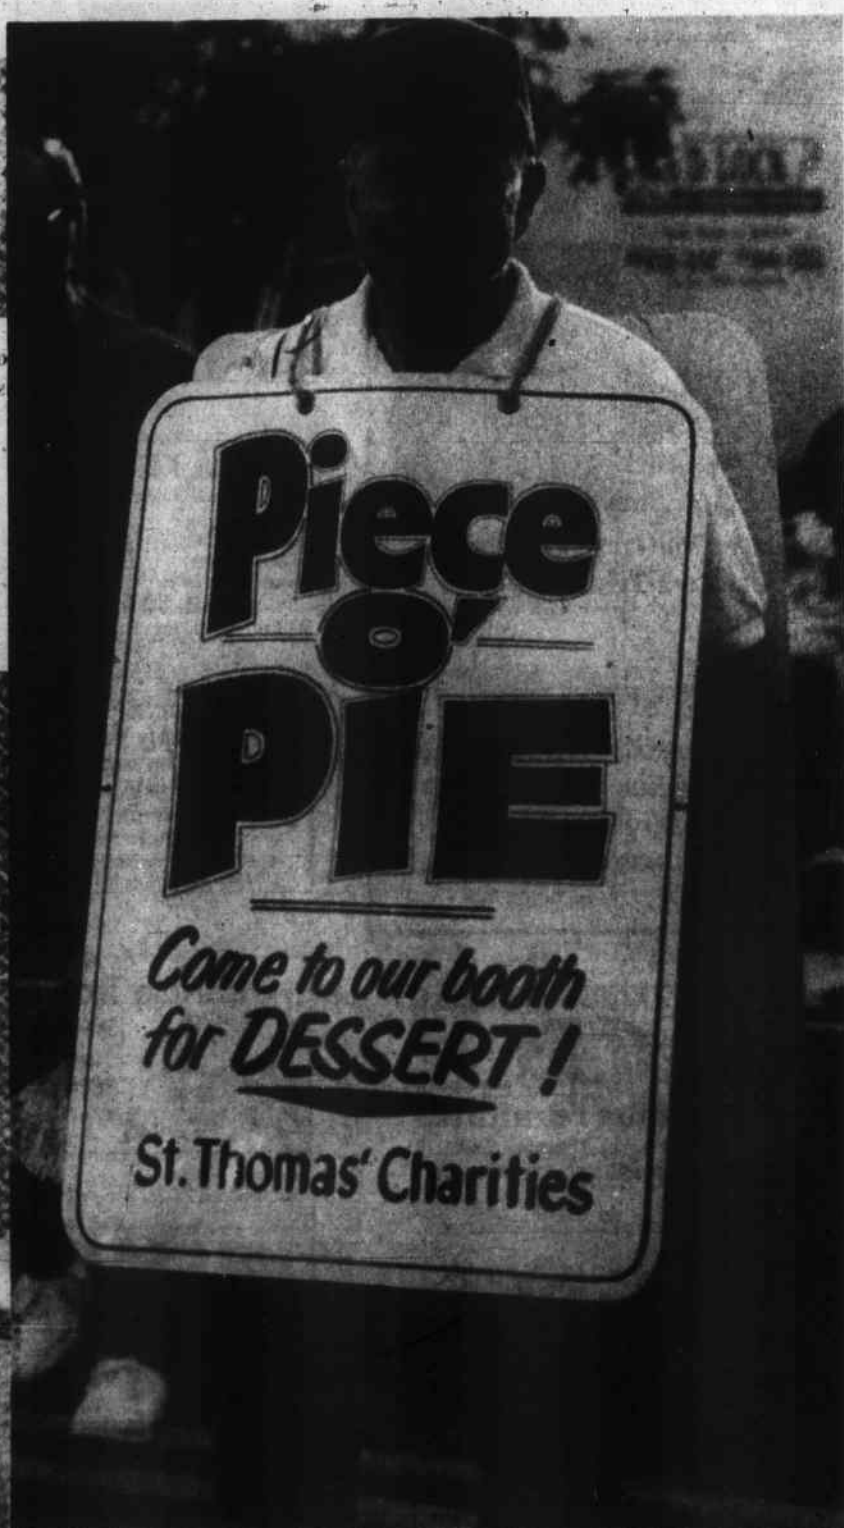

John Doherty has the un-enviable job of tending the chickens as they roast over coals. The Rotary Club served 520 meals on Saturday.

Angela Keane supervised the blueberry pie eating contest. That's her standing in the rear wearing the Rotary Club hat. The Rotary Club sponsored the Family Day festivities on Saturday. Thousands of people turned out for the day long event which culminated with fireworks.

And leave the cooking to us... Marshall Bishop sports his Mother's Day gift as he flips pancakes for the Minutemen on Sunday morning.

Jim Dempsey took his turn on Tuesday hawking pie for St. Thomas Church

Andy Heck was anxious to start the water bucket brigade race on Saturday's Family Day, however there turned out to be a problem with the rules. As officials tried to rewrite the rules things got hot. Jim Heck cooled things off with a dunk.

Rep. Miceli is working to increase state aid for MRWA ratepayers

Due to the legislative efforts of Rep. Miceli and his fellow rate relief advocates in the House of Representatives, Governor Weld signed the FY'96 Budget last week which included $32 million in state assistance to the MWRA. This constitutes a $5 million increase from last year. The amendment to include this funding was sponsored by the MWRA Legislative Caucus, and with the help of the House, the MWRA will now be able to maximize state debt service assistance for the next fiscal year. The assistance will ensure that rate increases for FY'96 will remain in the single digits.

Executive Director of the MWRA Legislative Caucus Joseph E. Favalaro commented, "Rep. Miceli's efforts as well as those of the MWRA Legislative Caucus have resulted in great savings to MWRA ratepayers. Without this assistance ratepayers would be facing double-digit increases."

This appropriation was made possible through legislation supported by Rep. Miceli. Providing the MWRA with its first ever state grant, the legislature has laid the ground work for future state aid. "There still remains many more battles to be fought in the conflict for unvarying water and sewer rates, and providing relief to Tewksbury and Wilmington residents in an absolute necessity," concluded Miceli.

Minuteman showcase house

"Oak Knoll," Minuteman Home Care's Designer Show House, the first designer house ever held in any of the Minuteman communities, opens to the public Sept. 19 and will remain open through Oct. 14.

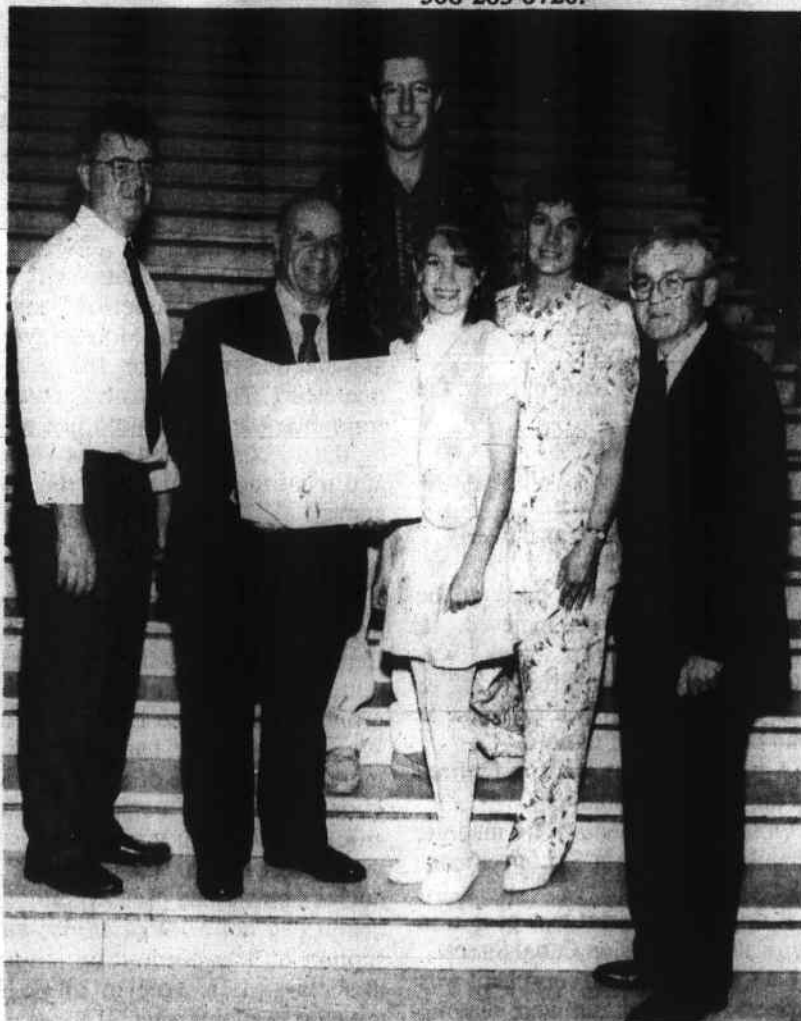

The 105 year old five bedroom home on Lexington's Meriam Hill is a well preserved example of the Queen Anne style of architecture. Home to a family with three sons, it will be the site of MHC's largest fund raiser to date. Tickets are $12 each and are good for any day. They will go on sale in July. All proceeds will benefit elders and other adults with long term care needs who depend on MHC to provide the programs and services they need to continue to live in their own homes for as long as possible.

Nearly 25 interior designers, artists and gardeners from throughout the area will transform the three story structure into a decorator's dream.

Since April, windows have been measured, and draperies and curtains, fashioned from some of today's most beautiful fabrics, are now being made. Refinished floors will display oriental, Aubusson and sizal rugs; and schedules are being set for delivery of elegant furnishings. Original art work will adorn the walls; and accessories complementing the variety of decors will complete each room.

Many individuals from MHC's service area have already responded to the call for volunteers to serve on committees and as hostesses at the Showhouse. Many more hostesses are needed to greet visitors in each of the rooms and serve as 'security guards.' For information about tickets or to volunteer, call Ann Scigliano at MHC, 617-272-7177 or 508-263-8720.

Wilmington resident Sarah Lund was recently pronounced the winner of the "Truth About Tobacco" Design Competition for the composition of an anti-smoking poster. The ceremony was held at the Grand Staircase in the State House. Sarah was accompanied by North Intermediate Principal Doug Anderson, Rep. James Miceli, Paul and Heidi Lund, and Commissioner of Public Health David H. Mulligan.

Every week in our office we have a drawing for the children who come in with clean teeth and a smile on their face. The winner receives a stuffed animal. Our lucky winner this week is:

Christopher Feindel

Christopher is the son of Janice & Kenneth Feindel. He is five years old and enjoys playing on the swing set and swimming in the pool. Christopher attends Wilmington Pre-School.

TWO WAYS TO HOUSE HUNT

If you are house hunting, you can scan the classified ads and call for information on houses that catch your eye - or you can ask a Realtor whom you trust to show you only the homes that will actually fit your needs.

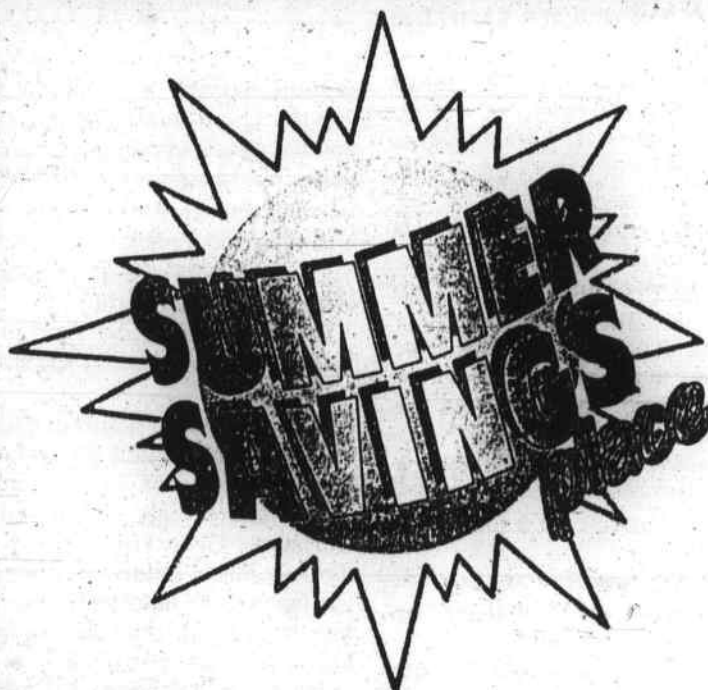

It helps to know how Realtors work in order to understand the advantages of working with a real estate professional. Realtors begin each agent/buyer relationship by asking questions about your preferences and financial qualifications, and then show you the homes in your price range that meet your criteria. As new listings come on the market, they get their buyers into them as quickly as possible, often before the homes are advertised.

Even in an uncertain market, the best homes move quickly. When you find a Realtor with whom you feel comfortable, you should consider working exclusively with that person. Your loyalty will give the agent great impetus to create the perfect match between you and a new house.

For professional advice on buying or selling real estate, please drop by our office in The Starwood Building at 299 Main Street, or call us at 657-8444.

Wilmington senior topics

Whist Monday

Monday, July 10 whist will be played in the function room beginning at 1 p.m. More players are needed to make the game interesting. Those who need a break from their yard work need just drop by the air conditioned senior center and meet the people who play the game.

Nutrition class

Tuesday morning, July 11, the first nutrition class of July will be held in the craft room of the Senior Center. Weigh-ins will begin at 9:30 a.m. with the class starting promptly at 10. The instructor Jean Webster was very happy with the increased number of seniors who joined the class last week. They all enjoyed it very much. Any senior worrying about staying on a doctor's prescribed diet, to prolong health can get a lot of advise and support on how to do it by joining this class. It is free to all Wilmington residents over 60.

July social

The July social will be held Wednesday, July 12 in the senior center. A buffet luncheon consisting of sliced ham, turkey and roast beef, Swiss and American cheeses, potato salad, tossed salad and antipasto salad, sandwich rolls and dessert will be served at noon. As this is the sing-a-long day of July, after the luncheon has been served the sing-a-long will be held. We will join our voices in singing the songs that we sang and danced to in days gone by accompanied by our talented pianist. Records and tapes will provide music for dancing. Signup for this social will begin Friday, July 7 at 10 a.m.

This social will be free to all Wilmington residents 60 and over.

The fair

Each year we try to make enough money on the annual senior fair to pay for two of our monthly therapeutic socials. Those are the Christmas Open House Party and the July buffet luncheon. This year the fair will be held Sat., Dec. 9. It may seem a long time off, but we all know we can blink an eye and another year has gone. It is not too early to start sewing, crocheting, knitting, working with macrame, wood, ceramic or metal, and painting articles to sell. We can start watching the sales to purchase a new gift to sell on our Christmas gift table for an adult or child.

Another reason we have to do well on the fair. On January 26, 1996 we will be celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Buzzell Senior Center, but with all of us working together on the preparation and working on the fair we will not have a problem reaching our goal. As the hard working seniors who renovated the building 10 years ago did.

HMO

We are hearing more and more about our medical coverage under an HMO. Should we or shouldn't we sign up for one. As a guide to assist Medicare eligible persons in assessing and selecting an HMO the following checklist has been sent to us, which suggests questions to ask in terms of convenience, cost and quality.

Convenience issues: Where is the nearest HMO located? At what health facilities do HMO members receive care? Hospitals, nursing homes, home health care agencies, physician specialists. Where do HMO members get their prescription drugs? At what times can appointments be made? How is the conversion to the HMO from our current Medicare supplement handled? Cost: What will my HMO Premium be? When was the last time the HMO premium changed? How much did it increase? Does the HMO require any co-payment? If so, how much and for what services? How does the HMO premium compare to premiums of other plans with comparable coverage?

Quality issues: How many doctors practicing in HMO serve elderly patients? Do the doctors make house calls? How many doctors are no longer accepting new patients? What is the procedure for selecting and changing physicians in the HMO? What is the average waiting time for an appointment? How does the HMO handle complaints? What is the HMO's policy on patients receiving care outside its service area while they are traveling? What is the procedure for obtaining emergency care? Who makes the determination that it is an emergency?

MAN-MADE FIRE LOG SAFETY

QUESTION: I have a problem finding firewood, so I often purchase man-made fireplace logs made from industrial waste, sawdust and wax. Can these logs present any danger?

ANSWER: These fire logs can be very dangerous if not handled with care. Read the manufacturer's label printed on the logs and follow them. Always place the log at the rear of the fireplace.

Never use more than one man-made log at a time, and never add such a log to an existing fire.

Don't poke or break apart man-made logs because the wax can stick to the poker and drop to the floor or carpet.

MAN-MADE FIRE LOGS can be dangerous if not handled with care.

Third annual wiffleball tourney this Saturday

by James Pote
The third annual, four man Knights of Columbus Wiffleball Tournament will start at 7:00 a.m. this upcoming Saturday, when Francis Romano tosses out the first pitch for the second consecutive year.

With the vastly growing interest, all teams are booked. The first two years of the tournament, behind organizers Gerry O'Reilly and Jerry Lawrenson, their were 12 and 13 teams, respectively. This year there is 15.

Last year, the team of Bob Voner, Dennis Walsh, Bill Lawson and Brian Surrette made up the team of "The Crawdads" and they were crowned champions. Voner, was the star pitcher of the tournament with his famous riser pitch and he and his teammates became the champs when they defeated "The Mugs" out of Tewksbury, who were made up of Bob Briggs, Jeff Smith, Jim Byers and Mike McGlaughlin.

The Crawdads and the Mugs will be two of the 15 teams to try to come away with the winning trophy this upcoming weekend.

The cash prizes of the tournament depend on the amount of participation.

The first year of the tournament, "Team Bud" were the champions. They were made up of Kevin Brander, Brian Savosik, Rich Hayden and Tom Gracia. In that first year, the left-over money of the tournament went to the Jimmy Fund.

Last year, the $1500 that was raised was distributed to many different organizations from the Knights of Columbus. And this year, the money will be going to the K of C softball team who will be going to the Nationals in Texas in the fall.

The tournament takes place in the K of C parking lot. There are two fields built back to back of each other. The pitching mound with its green mound with a big slope on it, is marked 45 feet away from the wheelbarrow which demonstrates the balls and strikes.

To be able to knock one out, a batter has to hit the ball at least 60 feet and at least five feet off the ground due to the fence along the outfield.

Three balls to a batter constitutes a walk, while, two strikes results in a strikeout. And if a batter foul tips the second strike into the strike zone, then that batter is out.

The games last six innings, with three outs per side. If the game is tied after seven innings, then two extra innings will be played. If the game is still tied after eight innings, then a home run derby will then enter play.

A "Hitline" is determined on the two fields for each hit. A single is defined as a ball which strikes the ground in fair territory between home plate and the hitline and rolls onto the outfield. A double is a ball hit into past the hitting and landing in the outfield. A triple is a ball which strikes off the fence before hitting the ground.

There is also a mercy run rule in which a team is ahead by 12 runs at the end of four innings.

Each team has to have four fielders but can have a five batters. The cost of each team is $60.

The drawing of the tournament will be Wednesday night at the Knights of Columbus.

During the heat and humidity of the summer, it is important to remember that our body needs help to remain adequately hydrated. We lose lots of fluid while participating in summer activities. Drinking alcoholic beverages actually speeds the loss of water by increasing urination.

14 and under team off to hot start

The Wildcat 14 and under softball team got off to a surprisingly fast start this season with an impressive showing in the Dracut Invitational Tournament.

The young ladies competed against a strong field of teams hailing from Lowell, Saugus, Dracut, Leominster, Wareham, New Bedford, Franklin and the Merrimack Valley Magic (Billerica and Chelmsford).

The Wildcats with only two weeks of practice under their belts posted a 3-2 record in the tournament before bowing out to Leominster 6-3 on Sunday morning.

"The young ladies overachieved as far as I was concerned" said Coach Kellie O'Donnell, in her first year helping out with the summer programs.

"Some of these teams have already competed in tournaments and have traveled to New York and Pennsylvania to play, so are somewhat ahead of us - but we handled ourselves well," added O'Donnell.

Wilmington posted wins over Lowell (11-1) Wareham (8-0) and Saugus (8-3) before losing to Dracut Bobcats (7-1) and Leominster.

This year's group of young ladies has a strong contingency of girls from last year's talented (12 and under) including Megan Sullivan, Robin Mainini, Michell McGonagle, Kristen Thomas, Maura Lynch and Lauren McCarthy as well as 14-year-olds Charlene Tamilio and Emily King.

The remaining members of the roster include Leigh Shea (Ipswich), Jessica Fitzgerald (Lynn), Amanda Santos and Shannon Nutting (Salem), Jessica Bazdanes and Jen Solomon (Methuen) and Jillian Middlemiss (Dracut).

The young ladies take their talents to New Bedford this weekend, July 29 to compete in the state tournament and will be hoping to land a spot in the upcoming regionals, July 21-23.

Major league all-star game this Saturday

Wilmington's Little League All-Stars begin District play Saturday, July 8 at Rotary Park.

The fourth annual Ladies Charity Classic coming on August 12th

On August 12, Wallum Lake Rod & Gun Club, Harrisville, R.I., will host the fourth annual Ladies Charity Classic, Rhode Island Event - a sporting clays event for women only.

All entrants have a chance to win fine guns in each of five classes by lucky score draws. The events are supported and sponsored by such giants of the shooting industry as Browning Arms, Winchester, White Flyer and Strum Ruger and will benefit the Breast Cancer Coalition.

For additional information about the Event contact Pat Thompson at 401-539-4028.

Designed to appeal to the recreational shooter, the novice can win exactly the same prizes and trophies as the competition shooter. The events are "fun" shoots, not competitions.

Using the Lewis-Class system of ranking shooters enables the events to place novices with novices and competition shooters with competition shooters. While strict safety rules are enforced, standard competition rules have been changed so that the novice shooters are at no disadvantage.

The Ladies Charity Classic Event, a program of the Women's Shooting Sports Foundation, first began in 1988 with one Event held in Houston, Texas on Mothers' Day weekend.

This event, known as the "Mother Shoot," has become the largest women's shooting event in the world, and will see some 300 women shooters from across the country shooting for the richest prizes in women's shooting, and will be featured on ESPN.

On Sunday, August 13, Wallum Lake Rod & Gun Club will host the Couples Cup Classic. Structured as a Lewis Class Event, the Couples Cup Classic offers male/female teams (husband-wife, mother-son, etc.) a fun filled opportunity for teams to engage multiple targets shooting simultaneously.

The Women's Shooting Sports Foundation, a non-profit organization was created in response to the increasing popularity of the shooting sports among women. The mandate of the WSSF is to provide information, education, create shooting and hunting opportunities for women and to serve as the collective voice for women's shooting sports interests.

The Ladies Charity Classic Event is but one of several programs serving to fulfill that mandate.

The concept of "all women's" shoots has been so well received by the public and the shooting industry that in 1995 the WSSF will produce 38 Ladies Charity Classic Events across the nation.

Study says DEET is safe (as if we really cared)

by Bill Conlon

Well, that's reassuring! The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association has stated for the record that the insect repellent "DEET" is safe. Whew!

Some of us use DEET constantly, basting ourselves nightly with the foul-tasting chemical.

Our old buddy N,N-diethyl-m-toluamide, which was developed in the 1950s for the U.S. Army, is the only compound ever invented that truly keeps bugs from biting. The stuff repels mosquitoes, ticks, fleas, no-see-ums, and most anything else that wants to make holes in our hides and drain out the juices.

Yeah, yeah. I've heard all the old tales about eating garlic to keep the bugs away, and Skin-So-Soft, and all that other stuff. DEET does the job best, period.

DEET, as the stuff in known in shorthand, has been under question for several years now, with people claiming that the chemical causes neurological damage in kids if, by chance, it is consumed. If you've ever sprayed yourself with DEET, you know how easy it is to get some in your mouth or -- worse -- in the eyes. It happens, and white coats were saying that DEET might be a cause of nerve damage to kids.

Now, the CMSA says that simply isn't true. DEET is harmless, they claim. Let's hope that's true.

The DEET study, according to the CSMA, was conducted by Dr. Jerome Murphy of Children's Mercy Hospital in K.C., Mo., and Thomas Osimitz, Ph.D., a toxicologist with SC Johnson & Son, Inc., of Racine, Wisconsin. More than 35 years of clinical case reports, toxicology studies and phone calls to poison control centers went into a $4 million, 10-year "DEET Joint Venture" study, done under EPA guidelines. The envelope, please...

"No unreasonable adverse effects to people or the environment are anticipated with the normal use of DEET-containing products," said CSMA president Ralph Engel. "Even more importantly, the review found no evidence that DEET, when applied according to label directions, has any neurological side effects on children. In those instances where adverse reactions were reported, no clear link has been established between the reaction and the application of the repellent."

Hmm. "No clear link" is fudging. I've learned from my long years of listening to doubletalk, but I'll let it go for now. The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association says DEET is safe, and I'll leave it at that. In this day and age we're bombarded by panicky reports one day, then the "all clear" the next. Heck, the white coats can't make up their minds whether alcohol is healthful or not, after thousands of years of in-depth exposure.

The issue of DEET and its safety comes at a crucial time of year: the summer. We have a very real need for insect (and arachnid) repellents this time of year. Emphasis on the arachnids.

Lyme Disease is still on the rise in the eastern states, and its now the top tick-spread disease in the U.S. Reported cases of Lyme Disease increased some 55 percent between 1993 and 1994 in the northeast, so we've got a problem, Houston.

Lyme Disease is spread by the tiny deer tick, a very small relative of the bigger dog tick that we all know and loathe. The ticks prefer to eat venison, but they'll gladly put the touch on you if the opportunity presents itself. (White-footed mice are also part of the disease's path to your armpit.) An infected tick can transmit Lyme Disease, and the tick is so tiny that you'll probably never know it's there until the symptoms start to appear.

Lyme Disease (named after the town of Lyme, Connecticut) causes symptoms that resemble flu, such as fever and chills, headache, muscle aches, joint stiffness, sore throat, fatigue, hoarseness and sleep disturbances. Within three to thirty days of being bitten by an infected tick, a circular "bull's-eye" or other type of rash may appear.

Unfortunately, Lyme Disease is often misdiagnosed. Left untreated, the disease can cause permanent and irreversible damage. Lyme Disease was first known as Lyme Arthritis, until the true cause was uncovered.

DEET is one of the few chemicals that repel ticks. We need DEET, so it's good to hear that the stuff isn't dangerous when used properly.

Whenever you're going outdoors, give yourself a spray of DEET at the ankles, wrists, neck and around the midsection just to be sure. Ticks hang onto plants, legs waving, until something furry (or clothed) comes along. Then they latch on, climb to a nice, warm spot like an armpit or the groin, then start sucking juices. Tucking your pant legs into your socks is a good idea, and so is the wearing of long-sleeved shirts with all the buttons buttoned.

Read the label of your bug spray, to see what sort of DEET concenration you've got. I prefer a 25-percent solution for day-to-day use and a 15-percent on the kids, but I keep a squeeze bottle of 100-percent DEET in my tackle box for serious trips into mosquito country. Very nasty, but very effective.

DEET should be sprayed onto the skin, then rubbed around to insure complete coverage. A spray over the clothes doesn't need rubbing. DEET lasts 6 to 8 hours, so there's no need to reapply, and no need to soak yourself in the stuff. A light spray is adequate. Pour or spray a little puddle of DEET in your hand, then smear it onto your face and neck -- applying it like camouflage paint -- rather than spray the stuff and risk getting it in your eyes and mouth. (Yuck!) Then wash your hands, to avoid getting the nasty-stuff into your mouth by accident. Same for the kiddos.

Oh yes, and hide all plastic when you apply DEET. I've learned, the hard way, that DEET can ruin clear plastic, such as eyeglasses, watch crystals and depth-finder screens. (I've ruined all three.) Naturally, don't apply DEET to cuts or open wounds. Not smart.

Once you've returned from the wilds, wash the stuff off with soap and hot water. If the smell isn't bad enough, the thought of getting an accidental taste of the stuff with your midnight snack should be deterrent enough.

So, DEET has been declared safe. Thank goodness.

(If they ever threatened to outlaw DEET, I'd buy a dozen 55-gallon barrels of the stuff before the ban went into effect.)

Camper openings

The Wilmington Recreation Department has camper openings in its day camp program at the Woburn Street School. This day camp works on a four to one camper to counselor ratio.

This day camp will consist of both children with special needs and peer models involved in many activities and field trips staffed by certified teachers and college students specializing in special needs and recreation.

The four to one camper ratio will afford campers an abundance of one-to-one attention from their enthusiastic staff.

The camp still has 10 openings for any students from Wilmington who are not involved in special education.

The camp will run daily from July 3 through August 10 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Call 658-4270 for more information.

-Poem- THE GOLORIOUS 4TH OF JULY

Aye, Raise her to the highest mast
Secure and make her halyards fast.
Then wind and rain or gentle breeze
The summer's heat or winter's freeze
Cannot deter Old Glory's wave
O'er the land of the free and the brave.

Our flag has flown o'er Artic's waste.
Through desert storms and cyclone's haste.
Has proudly waved on ships at sea,
And on the moon made history.
Has felt the sting of shot and shell,
On Iwo Jima's living hell.

So on this glorious 4th today,
I bow by head and start to pray;
"Oh Lord, please grant this land will be,
Forever blessed with liberty.
And let Old Glory raised on high,
As freedom's emblem proudly fly.

Melrose, Medford vote on mayors' raises

Melrose Mayor Richard Lyons will receive a $20,000 pay raise if the Board of Aldermen has its way, and might receive it if the citizens who launched a referendum petition regarding the raise have their way via a vote in November.

He now earns $38,000 a year.

The Medford City Council has voted 6-1 to approve a 12.5 percent pay raise for Mayor Michael McGlynn which would up his salary to $78,637 retroactive to January 1st, if the request passes the legislature. McGlynn is also the chairman of the Medford School Committee.

Malden Mayor Edwin Lucey earns $64,912; Cambridge Mayor Ken Reeves receives $43,400; Cambridge City Manager Robert Healy earns $126,000; and Winchester Town Manager Chad Maurer makes $78,400.

Reading gives town manager raise

The Reading Board of Selectmen has voted unanimously to give Reading Town Manager Peter Hechenbleikner a 2.5 percent raise, effective July 1st, the first day of fiscal year 1996, making his salary $78,444.

Hired in the fall of '87 at $52,500, he has earned the following, according to the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," during his tenure in town: FY'88 - $55,125; FY'89 - $58,157; FY'90 - $61,356; FY'91 - $64,730; FY'92 - $64,730; FY'93 - $64,730; FY'94 - $66,348; FY'95 - $76,531.

Hechenbleikner resides in Reading.

New Reading Superintendent of Schools Dr. Harry Harutunian of Beverly has just been hired for $80,000, with the details of the next two years of his contract to be worked out. Natick, a community billed as similar to Reading, is still advertising for a superintendent for its eight-building school system - it's offering "a multi-year contract, compensation range $90,000 to $100,000 commensurate with experience and an attractive fringe benefit package."

Guess it pays to stay in school. If not in town. Or city.

Then again: new Medford Superintendent of Schools Roy Belson is expected to make about $90,000 this year - and Medford Police Chief Leo Sacco, Jr. could earn $94,000.

Stoneham raises some questions

With Stoneham Town Meeting members thinking hard about whether their town administrator should be required to live in Stoneham, Selectmen Chair Albert Conti - who, according to the "Stoneham Independent," doesn't support a residency requirement - has raised the same question about other department heads because "Those department heads have a lot of control in town ... They should also feel what it is like to live in this town."

Of the 15 major department heads 'in town', seven live out of town, according to the "Stoneham Independent." Of the "1994 top 25 paid employees townwide," 14 "are taking their cash outside of town."

Stoneham's top 15 list - of department heads and who lives where - is as follows, according to the "Independent."

Those who live in Stoneham include Assessors Administrative Assistants Elaine Moore and John Doyle; Building Inspector Robert Columbus; Arena Manager June Scarpa; Fire Chief William McLaughlin; Town Counsel William Solomon; Library Director Hugh Williams; Police Chief Eugene Passaro; and Senior Center Director Barbara Mahoney.

Those who live elsewhere include Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ellen Bueschel (Boston), DPW Director Robert Grover (Melrose), Town Treasurer Thomas Cicatelli (Melrose), Town Accountant Ronald Florino (Tewksbury), Veterans Agent Carl Saunders (Saugus), Golf Course Superintendent Richard Arzillo (Nahant), and Health Inspector Diane Kurkjian (Reading).

Don't be fooled by scam artists

By PAUL FEELY

READING - Police are currently working with law enforcement officials in the town of Biddeford, Maine, to crack down on a scam group that fooled a local resident last Friday.

The group of young men told the resident they would re-pave his driveway for a very cheap price, and eventually made off with about $800.

"We just want the public to be aware that this group is out there," said Lieutenant Detective Kevin Patterson. "They probably actually do people's driveways, but they also pull this type of scam."

According to police reports, a group of about six young men, ranging in age from 18 to 20 years old, drove up to a residents home in two trucks and offered to re-pave his driveway for only $1,300. The resident agreed to the price, and the group began working.

A short time later, one of the men stated that they had run out of hot top sealer, and would need $800 to go and buy some more. The resident wrote out a check for that amount, and the group left, never to return.

Police were able to obtain a license plate from one of the vehicles, and have traced it to a resident of Biddeford, Maine.

Both the Reading police force and Biddeford law enforcement officials are currently working together to try and make an arrest in the case.

Over the past two weeks, there has been a series of calls to police headquarters reporting that one or two men have approached several residents and asked if they would like to have their driveways re-paved using surplus hot top sealer.

SAT & PSAT VERBAL PREPARATION COURSE

Register today for SAT & PSAT verbal preparation program offered at Minuteman Tech Summer School. Two week sessions are available; July 10th thru 21st, 12 to 3 pm; or July 24th thru August 4th, 8:30 - 11:30 am.

This course prepares high school students for the verbal portion of the SAT & PSAT. Students learn proven test taking strategies that may lead to score gains of between 60 and 200 points.

The course provided the missing link for bright high school students whose potential may not be reflected in standardized test scores.

Participants gain proficiency in solving the analogy and sentence completion test items. Techniques for the reading comprehension questions and intensive vocabulary development are also featured. When to guess, how to score and interpret test results are a few of the many questions answered. Students prepare by taking actual SAT's.

The instructor, Roberta Wolman, has been successfully preparing students for the SAT and PSAT since 1975. She is a full time Reading and Learning Disabilities Specialist at Minuteman and a registered educational tutor with the Learning Disabilities Network.

The Course tuition is $220; books and materials $40. For registration and information contact Minuteman Tech Community Education at 617-861-7150, 8 am to 4 pm Monday - Friday or the instructor, Roberta Wolman, in the evenings at 617-721-1065.

Quannapowitt open for swimmers

For over fifty years, the Wakefield Recreation Department has offered swimming lessons and summer-long Colonel Connelly Beach Membership to the citizens of Wakefield and surrounding communities.

In regards to the swimming lessons, there will be a four-week session that runs on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at either 10-10:30 am or 11-11:30 am. The session will last from July 24 - August 18.

The fee for teaching one child how to have a safe and fun time in the water is $18, along with an extremely inexpensive beach membership (see below).

"The kids really have had a great time in the past," says Roger Maloney, director of the Recreation Department. "And despite what some people think, the water is perfectly clean. Both the state and Board of Health check the water every week. We haven't had to shut down the lake in 20 years.

"The lessons are generally for water babies, beginners and intermediate beginner sessions. And there is of course always a lifeguard on hand, as well as a large raft and a swimming area marked off by flotation devices. We even bring a Life Line ambulance down for a day to give a course on first aid."

Also available are family memberships to the beach, which provide access through August 18, seven days a week, from 9am to 5 pm. The cost, which is separate from the swimming lessons is affordable. The fee for an entire family for the summer is $10 for Wakefield residents, and $15 for non residents.

Playground facilities are also at the beach, fully equipped with swings, slides a merry-go-round and so forth.

"The facilities are always in excellent shape," says Moloney. "And we encourage out-of-towners to participate, also. We offer day care schools to take a field trip here for a special rate, too."

Beach passes and swimming lessons can be purchased at the Town Hall Recreation Office from 9 am to 12 pm, Monday through Friday, or at the accessible Colonel Connelly Beach, located off the 129 rotary near Lanai Island, during the hours of operation.

MWRA water watch is very positive

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) announced today that there is an ample supply of water in the Quabbin and Wachusett Reservoirs for the summer, and there are no planned water use restrictions in customer communities supplied by MWRA.

As of May 1, the Quabbin Reservoir was 95.1% full and Wachusett Reservoir was 87.2% full. An extensive water conservation program by MWRA and its water customer communities has reduced water use from an average 337 mgd (million gallons per day) in 1987 to an average 250 mgd in 1994, well below the "safe yield" of the water system designed to safely provide 300 mgd. MWRA supplies water to 47 communities.

Listed below are a few outdoor water saving tips:

1. Water the lawn (and other landscaping) in the early morning or evening to avoid excess evaporation.
2. Be sure sprinklers water the lawn, not the pavement.
3. Never water on a windy, rainy or very hot day.
4. Water shrubs and gardens using a slow trickle around the roots. A slow soaking encourages deep root growth, reduces leaf burn and mildew and prevents water loss.
5. Be sure the hose has a shut-off nozzle. Hoses without a nozzle can spout 10 gallons or more per minute.
6. Remember one inch a week (Rain plus supplemental watering) should be plenty of water for your lawn.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

The opening line

"You can read it on their faces, school's out for the summer," reads the caption on a photo in one local paper. "Middle school students waived and yelled goodbye to classmates and teachers on Thursday before the bus ride home on the last day of school."

Maybe they were waiving their rights.

Hello, Parker brothers (& sisters)

All alumni - in any form - of Reading's Parker Middle School are invited to become part of the Parker history about to be made in the form of a soon-to-be-rebuilt Parker.

In an all-out effort to fund some of the technology necessary to make the "new" Parker a state-of-the-art middle school, the PTO has initiated a "Brick by Brick" fundraiser. Parents, graduates, current students, area alumni - all are invited to have their names engraved - with special messages - on paving bricks which will be placed near the front entrance of the new school, an area which will contain about 1,000 bricks, each engraved with a two- or three-line dedication.

Each 4" by 8" brick containing two lines of engraving with 15 characters per line goes for $50. Bricks with three lines of engraving go for $55. For more information, contact PTO members through the Parker office at (617) 944-1236.

For those who can't wait

The Lynnfield Community School is offering a five-week, pre-first grade program for children entering first grade in the fall.

Lynnfield elementary school teacher Marge Robins will offer instruction in reading readiness, writing, language arts, and math; all of which will be integrated with creative activities designed to make this summer school an enjoyable experience. Elementary school students in grades one through six are also invited to participate in an "academic and enrichment" summer school program in reading and math.

The reading course will offer small group instruction to correct weaknesses in all areas of reading, with children grouped according to their specific needs and reading levels. Held from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. daily, the course will also provide enrichment for those who want to surpass their current reading levels. The math course, from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. daily, is designed to guide students "from where they are to where they want to be" in relation to the achievements of similar students. It will focus on computational skill, knowledge of basic number facts, ability to solve verbal problems, knowledge of arithmetic vocabulary and technical terms, and understanding the number system and number operations.

The above courses run from July 10th through August 11th, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Lynnfield High.

Lynnfield's "Kinder Kamp" is offered at the Summer Street School on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to noon to those campers entering or leaving kindergarten. Activities include arts and crafts, nature studies, finger plays, songs, games, cooking, story time, and outdoor activities.

All Lynnfield Community Schools courses are open to Lynnfield and non-Lynnfield residents, with registration processed on a first-come, first-serve basis. Flyers are available in each Lynnfield Public School office, the Lynnfield Public Library, and the Lynnfield Community Schools office at 275 Essex Street. For more information, call 334-5814 in Lynnfield.

NotesFlash

Never underestimate the potential for excitement at a School Committee meeting, especially in Reading where one never knows what one will hear or when it will all end. Reading's Interim Superintendent Dennis Richards announced last week that newly appointed Coolidge Middle School Principal Jeff Cryan had decided, for personal reasons only, not to make the move from Connecticut back to Massachusetts and that - if it was all right with the four SchoolCom members present, he would appoint one of the three remaining "excellent" finalists to the position.

John Doherty of Wilmington is the new Coolidge Middle School principal.

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

MOVIES

"Apollo 13" Short Takes

"Apollo 13" Starring Tom Hanks, Kevin Bacon, Bill Paxton, Gary Sinise, Ed Harris, Kathleen Quinlan. Directed by Ron Howard. Produced by Brian Grazer. Screenplay by William Broyles, Jr. and Al Reinert. Based on the book "Lost Moon" by Jim Lovell and Jeffrey Kluger. Rated PG.

For a movie about a big hunk of metal, this certainly has a lot of heart.

Of course, Apollo 13 was not only the name of a spacecraft, but also the name of a mission. Director Ron Howard captures the dedication, romance, fear, and unabashed spirit of adventure that should accompany a story about the exploration of new frontiers. He also catches the can-do American spirit that saved the lives of the three men trapped in space in April, 1970.

Jim Lovell (Tom Hanks), Fred Haise (Bill Paxton), and Jack Swigert (Kevin Bacon) had hoped to walk on the moon. When a mechanical failure crippled their spacecraft, it was soon clear there were no contingency plans for their particular type of disaster. The rallying effort made by all involved, including the men on the ground who designed the spacecraft, is truly inspiring.

Howard's detailed scenes of the lunch, NASA's control room, and even the weightlessness of the astronauts in their cramped quarters, are mind-boggling. He used no actual footage, yet this docu-drama looks so real you'll have trouble believing Howard recreated every step of a mission that was dubbed a "successful" failure. From the fiery launching and space travel, to the explosion that left three men desperately scrambling in space, this movie is nothing short of amazing in its accuracy.

Considering the subject matter involves swagging astronauts and men who would never show emotion, there is a lot of it up on the screen. As Lovell, the captain of the mission, Hanks says a lot with his eyes, while flight director Ed Harris, as the NASA flight director, masterfully shows us the cracks in his assured control.

As Lovell's wife, Kathleen Quinlan has little to do but worry and weep, yet she does so magnificently. Quinlan relies on quiet economy to display the enormous strain and courage put on the spouses who watch their loved one's shot into the ozone under a blanket of fire.

Technically, this is a masterpiece. Take it from someone who can spot a matte shot at fifty yards - this is a visual delight. Sure, there are digital matte shots and miniatures in this production, but you'd never know it. Howard and his talented technicians painstakingly recreated the actual space capsule and control room, so that even the dials and knobs look convincingly authentic.

For a movie that runs nearly two-and-a-half hours, "Apollo 13" unwinds very quickly. A real summer treat, this is cinema at its best, as it is both artful and emotional, and always exciting.

Pocahontas is the perfect example of why Disney shouldn't do history. The 12-year-old Indian maiden who saved the life of John Smith is now a willowy sex kitten, and the story itself is broody, preachy, and so politically correct, all of the energy is drained right out of it. It has its moments, including intriguing casting, some funny animal antics and at least one good song, but this isn't up to the Disney standard. Perhaps less commercialism and hype next time? Rated G.  1/2

Congo has it all - the makings of a grade B. 1950's studio adventure, except for the (mostly) big-budget, 1990's special effects. The result is all very retro. Scientists tramp through Africa looking for the Lost City of Zinj and flawless diamonds while hoping to return an endangered mountain gorilla, that speaks fluent sign language, back to its original habitat. Despite many flaws, there is something fun about all the excess in this overblown, campy adventure, which almost qualifies as a guilty pleasure. Rated PG-13.  1/2.

The Bridges of Madison County just blows away the best-selling hockey novel by Robert James Waller. Clint Eastwood, using remarkable restraint, is sensitive and manly as the photographer who woos a housewife, played with lots of personality by Meryl Streep. This romance has it all - intelligence, humor, and a lot of warmth. It's a little talky, but sad and sexy enough so that we can overlook it. Rated PG-13.

CAST OF OKLAHOMA HELPS DISASTER VICTIMS

THE CAST OF NORTH REGIONAL THEATRE WORKSHOP'S PRODUCTION OF "OKLAHOMA!" takes a break just before the opening night curtain. They raised $700 for the Oklahoma City Disaster Relief Fund to aid the bombing victims. (Glen Cordell Robbins photo)

The North Regional Theatre Workshop is pleased to announce that they are sending $700 to Oklahoma City Disaster Relief Fund. They were in rehearsal for Rodgers and Hammerstein's Oklahoma! when news broke of the tragic bombing in Oklahoma City. "We were already planning a fund raiser to purchase technical equipment like we've done for all our productions in the last few years," reported Resident Director Paul Greene. "The cast came to me asking what we could do as a group, and it was unanimously agreed to send half our fund raising proceeds to Oklahoma City."

Usually, NRTW makes about $600 with their fund raising endeavors, but this time they brought in $1,391, and decided to send an even $700 to the Disaster Relief Fund. The remaining money will help purchase heat sets for the back stage and lighting crews.

The theme of the day will be "Rally Day for AARP Men Members."

A procession of members will rally around the hall carrying placards "Be An AARP Member." Be There!

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Woodchips is like a family of friends getting together to share their "Goodwill," "Happiness," and "Love." Sour pussies are more than welcomed too. I hope it gives them the opportunity to change and join us to Love, Live and Laugh in harmony with one another.

Jimmy Quinno told me that when he was a young man in Woburn, a man was killed by a "Weasel." The poor chap was crossing the railroad tracks near Woburn Square and he didn't hear the Weasel.

(Send them in to me folks, I'll give you credit for them, I wouldn't dare claim them as my own).

Kathy told a slowpoke gasoline station attendant, "Now I know what they did with the 'LEAD' that was taken out of gasoline."

I heard that a locksmith was the "Keynote" speaker at Yale Commencement. That's the "Yale Lock Co. School."

The telephone is one of the greatest inventions. Isn't it wonderful that in the matter of seconds you can talk to almost anyone in the world. However folks, the Indian's "Smoke Signal" systems weren't that bad either. Did anyone ever hear of an Indian being awoken from a sound sleep to answer a "wrong" number?

Some of the most beautiful women in the world are, Swedish. Ingrid Bergman of course was one, and so are some fans of Woodchips like, Erica Svendsen, Karen Hellmer and Linda Jacobson of Wakefield; Ruth Haggerty of Woburn; Kara Lindquist and Karin Hallin of Stockholm and folks you can't be more Swedish than that.

I asked my nephew Danny what he gave his baby brother for his birthday? He smiled and said, "Measles!"

I was invited by George Hassett, Fred Booth and Wallace Hill to the "Mass Electric Retirees' Luncheon." There were well over a hundred men and women who are affectionately called, "The Burnt Fuses." Folks, these are some of the workers who responded when power lines were down and restored electrical service after a storm.

Woodchips thanks them and those on duty now.

Very interestingly, the recent survey I took in my neighborhood of the ten garages on my street, only one is used for an
